Articulation

What is Articulation?

Articulation is our ability to produce speech sounds correctly by coordinating our lips, teeth, tongue, and the hidden parts inside our mouth.

Typical Sound Emergence by Age

- Children learn and master different speech sounds as they grow (as shown above).
- They first begin to use sounds to make short, simple words (e.g. baba, mama, papa).
- School-aged children are usually able to produce all the sounds in their native language

How Kidztales Can Help

If someone has trouble with articulation, their speech might be hard to understand because they aren't saying sounds the right way. For example, an articulation difficulty might sound like they are saying "fwee" instead of "three". Our articulation services are designed to help kids improve their ability to produce speech sounds, which can help them communicate more effectively and confidently with others.
